

ACTIVE LANDSCAPES: RECORDING CHANGE THROUGH ARCHAEOLOGICAL SURVEY

Friday 16th and Saturday 17th September 2016
The Riverside Centre, Exeter

The Landscape Survey Group's 3rd annual conference will combine a day of presentations and discussion exploring the potential that archaeological survey has to reveal both how we have changed our environment as well as how we have responded to changes to our environment with a field visit to Dartmoor landscapes on the second day.

Friday 16th September 9.30 am to 5 pm

Mark Bowden Welcome and Frances Griffith Introduction to Devon

Alex Bellisario, Museum of London (CITIZAN) The landscape of the coastal zone

Angela Gannon, Historic Environment Scotland 'Staggering through mud and peat, gasping breaths and sucked-in cheeks': recording the archaeology of Scottish peatlands

Elaine Jamieson, University of Reading Extending histories: from medieval mottes to prehistoric round mounds

David Knight, Historic England Crossing the Cam: a landscape defined by nature

Alice Thorne, Secrets of the High Woods Landscape and lasers: exploring the archaeology of the South Downs National Park

Chris Webb, The National Trust Hidden in the woods: a new layer in Selborne's landscape history

Olaf Bayer, Historic England Patterns of influence and change: prehistoric and Romano-British landscapes in the lower Exe valley, Devon

Krystyna Truscoe, University of Reading Landscape, economic and social change around Calleva: the results of the Silchester Environs Project aerial photograph and lidar survey

Adrian Chadwick, University of Leicester Having the time and the money? Linking landscape and diachronic change to coin deposition: the work of the Hoarding in Iron Age and Roman Britain project

Adam Welfare, Historic Environment Scotland Minor military posts and Roman roads in southern Scotland

Phil Newman, Southwest Landscape Investigations In search of the Carbonarii: evidence for Dartmoor's medieval peat charcoal industry

Amelia Pannett, Louise Mees and Natalie Ward, Cadw and Peak District National Park Authority Adopt a landscape: surveying and managing monuments in the Blaenavon Industrial Landscape World Heritage Site

Amanda Adams and Steve Crowther, Skylarkeology From bomb dump to rubbish dump? The legacy of twentieth century military infrastructure in England

Saturday 17th September 9.30 am to 4 pm

Fieldtrip to Dartmoor landscapes including Lydford burgh and castle, Brent Tor hillfort and church, Merrivale multi-phase landscape and Moretonhampstead

Registration is available for the full programme (£25 members, £30 non-members) or Friday conference only, including lunch (£20 members, £25 non-members). Registration forms and membership forms are available from the Landscape Survey Group website (www.landscapesurvey.org) or by email from nathalie.barrett@winchester.ac.uk. Please also contact Nathalie with any queries regarding the conference or fieldtrip arrangements, or if you would like to contribute posters or displays that address the theme of the conference.