

PRODUCTIVE LANDSCAPES: NEW PERSPECTIVES FROM ARCHAEOLOGICAL SURVEY

Friday 15th September 2017

The Shire Hall, Monmouth

LANDSCAPE
SURVEY GROUP

The Landscape Survey Group's 4th annual conference will combine a day of presentations and discussion with a field visit on Saturday 16th September

Friday 15th September The Shire Hall, Monmouth 9.30 for 10.00 until 17.00

Session Chairs Mark Bowden, David Field, Alice Thorne and Angela Gannon

Chris Atkinson, Pennine Prospects Celebrating Our Woodland Heritage: Investigating Woodlands of the South Pennines

Vivienne Blandford Pillow Mounds to Pill Boxes

David Knight, Historic England Reclaiming Roman Birdoswald

Stratford Halliday What's in a field?

Judie English, David Lea and Dick Tapper Field systems and cross dykes on the South Downs

Adrian Chadwick, University of Bristol Productive practice – new (and not so new) perspectives on prehistoric and Romano-British field systems and trackways in South Wales and beyond

Graeme Kirkham 'Then doe they bring in Sea sand . . .': keeping farming landscapes productive in medieval and post-medieval Cornwall and Devon

Mark Bowden, Historic England Waste is not wasted: productivity of lands managed in common

Angela Gannon, Historic Environment Scotland 'Cultivation, like the gradual spreading of a garment, has changed the external face of the earth, and every locality wears a new appearance'

Andrea Goodison, University of Sheffield Peak District Lead Mills and their Context in the Landscape: Bar Brook Mills

Harry Manley, Bournemouth University 'Winning the ground': recording a 'lost' mining landscape in Cornwall

Amelia Pannett, Cadw Such are the wonderworking powers of industry when directed by judgement! The making of an industrial landscape at Blaenavon, 1787-1836

Friday evening optional walking tour of Monmouth and conference dinner

Saturday Fieldtrip by coach to Brecon Beacons and Blaenavon 08.30 to 16.00

Registration is available for the full programme (£25 members, £30 non-members) or Friday conference only, including lunch (£20 members, £25 non-members). Registration forms and membership forms are available from the Landscape Survey Group website or by email from nathalie.barrett@winchester.ac.uk. Please also contact Nathalie with any queries regarding the conference or fieldtrip arrangements.

www.landscapesurvey.org

LANDSCAPE
SURVEY GROUP

@LandscapeSurvey

Landscape Survey Group

Find us on Facebook